THE GENERAL 1988

Isn't it Special

HERE WE COME AGAIN! After a long walk from the parking area, students prepare to enter the building another school year.

William Campbell High School
P.O. Box 7
Naruna, Virginia 24576
Volume 37

Yes

It's

Special

... because we make it so. What makes something remembered or special? We do. Each of us is faced daily with varied experiences, feelings, and choices with which we must cope. Some we choose to forget but some will forever affect us and are filed away in our memory banks. These memories will resurface at various times in our lives to give us special insights and feelings.

Times spent with friends, new experiences, special social moments, and, yes, even classes make our high school years irreplaceable. These times can never be relived. They are Special Times.

Mrs. Dianne Cornelison looks on as junior Matt Tibbs and Tracey Clark exchange the FIRST class rings at the FIRST Ring Dance ever held at school. It was held on November 20.

It's not real girls! Tempers flare during the one-act play "Gratitude" which was given before the student body as Mrs.

McGregor (Sherry Tucker) tries to keep Mrs. Caldwell (Wanda Hubbard) from Mrs. Featherstone (Rhonda Williams).

Maid Jenny Dorn (Carrington Connolly) glares at Mrs. Evens played by Leigh De Jarnette.

SCA reported Julia Childress gets THE NECESSARY information from new teacher Mr. Doug Smith during the welcome back assembly on September 17.

SHAG TIME! Mr. Alaric Gust shows Sherry Tucker some basic "shag" steps at the Homecoming Dance.

It All Counts

We are lucky. The size of our school gives each person an opportunity to be special. It allows us to participate in ways that would not be possible in a large school.

School opened this year with a welcome back assembly with our very own "raisin people." There is a new photography department, more courses, and new concert band.

On the social scene, more activities were available. Mini trips were planned for seniors. In September, they went to UVA to see the Virginia Cavaliers and Duke Blue Devils clash. While there, they attended a Youth Rally with guest speakers Mercury Morris and John Johnson.

For students ready to dance the night away, the opportunity was there. In addition to the regular homecoming dances, a special Ring Dance was held for juniors and their guests. When spring finally arrived it was time for the prom.

Yes, this school is full of people who take pride in small things and work together to make it Special.

Who's more excited—Queen Tracie Garrett or escort Dwayne Dickerson!

IF GIRLS CAN, WE CAN! David Clark and Robert Roakes look on as Todd Roakes and Troy Heddings "dance the night away" at the Homecoming Dance held in the gymnasium.

IT SAYS IT ALL! The Pep Club provided many well done spirit posters throughout the year.

That's What Friends Are For! Varsity football cheerleaders take a few minutes to warm up and chat before the Rustburg game on October 9.

Le Marché. Stephanie Gilbert has decided to be brave and try some fromage de chèvre — better known as goat cheese.

Special Times

They were the best of times, they were the worst of times — or something close according to Charles Dickens. Regardless of which they were, the times were challenging, exciting, and saw students involved in many activities.

Students ran here and there busy with after school jobs, community activities, special things like modeling contests, and just plain cruisin'. Whatever the activity, we were there. We got involved and made these times special.

We heard it through the grapevine. We were treated to an enjoyable skit during the fall when our very own grapevine people, Mike Saunders, Wanda Hubbard, Leigh DeJarnette, and Matt Tibbs, performed.

Beach Boogie! Andy Disher is all smiles as he successfully completes a ride on his board while at Myrtle Beach.

Just hangin' around. Friends Lou DeJarnette, Tracey Foster, Edward Singleton, and Marcia Davidson enjoy their lunch break under the covered walkway.

FROSTY THE SNOWMAN? Not quite! Would you believe Frosty, the snow-baby? Marsha Roach, Dana Ridgeway, and Michele Moorefield take advantage of the November 11th snowfall to be creative.

"Halloweird"

It is the 31st day of October, there is a full moon and black cats, ghosts and goblins are on the prowl.

As the hour of six approaches, children of all ages are getting dressed to go trick or treating. Many go for the treats, but many teenagers go to play tricks. Things like bombing cars or mailboxes with eggs are some common pranks.

Some communities provide many activities from which to choose. A lock-in at the church where no one can leave until morning, a scary haunted house which gives one nightmares, or just an all night Halloween dance to "boogie away the frights" are some options.

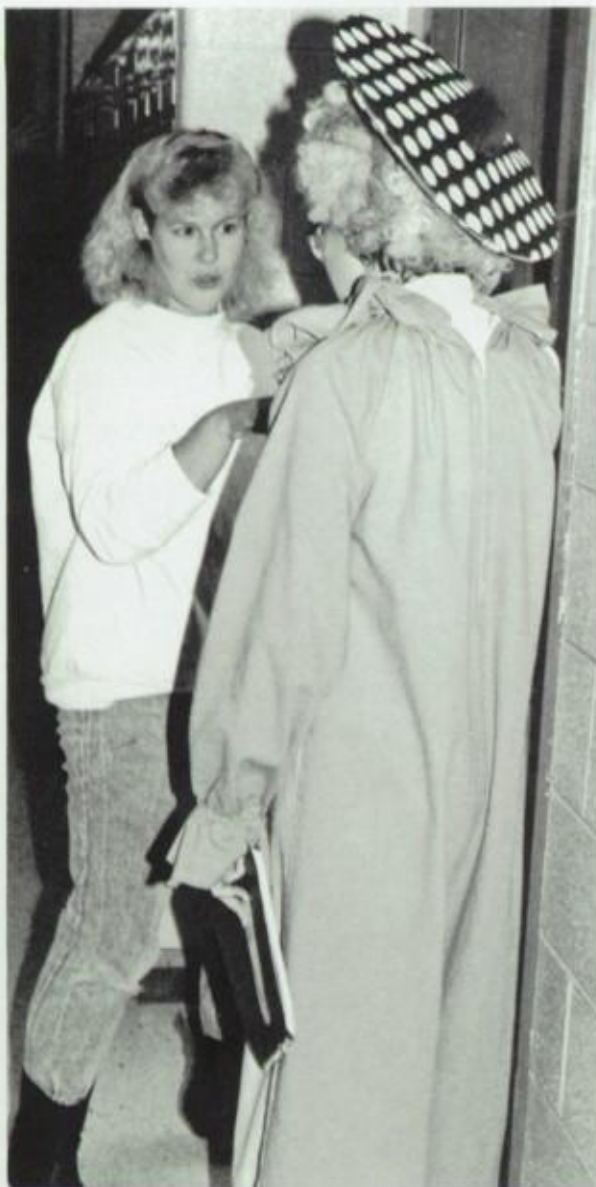

Strange things can happen on Halloween.

Opportunities of the Month. The SCA calendar keeps the student body informed of activities.

What a group of outcasts! Dressed for spirit week are Jeff Parsons, Miss Amelia Talley, Gerry Tanner, Senora Knight, Annie Froelich, Sherry Tucker, and Dabney Phelps.

"And I'm supposed to let you teach me?" Freshman Ralna Meadows has her doubts about Miss Amelia Talley.

Meooooow! Where's my ride? This cat is ready and waiting for Halloween.

Talk About Weird! Ghostly images have entered the photographer's camera. Christy Moorefield and Cynthia Childress have been faded out by the superimposed picture of Matt Tibbs.

HARVEST OF MEMORIES

The Pep Club kept us in the spirit with posters like this.

One certainly has a bountiful crop of memories to harvest this year. After a busy week of decorating, dressing for spirit days, and a pep rally, homecoming night arrived crisp and clear.

As Hugh Williams drove the float onto the football field at half time, parents and friends poured onto the track area for pictures of their favorite candidates. And then, the long anticipated announcement came — "Homecoming Queen 1987 is Miss Tracie Garrett." No one will ever forget the excitement and the unique "clothes line" hug that escort Dwayne Dickerson gave the queen! It was a night for memories.

Excitement is obvious on the faces of Queen Tracie Garrett and escort Dwayne Dickerson.

Robert Roakes escorted senior attendant Cathy Crews. Cathy was the representative from Mr. Kenneth Booth's homeroom.

Dabney Phelps shows her excitement while W.B. Bass attempts a more serious demeanor. Dabney represented Mrs. Ann Hunt's senior homeroom.

Wanda Hubbard and Wilfred Gilbert enjoyed the festivities but took time to pose. Wanda was a senior attendant from Mr. Alaric Gust's homeroom.

The junior class was represented by Tracey Clark and her escort Matt Tibbs.

Marcia Davidson escorted by Andy Disher represented the sophomore class.

Jason Heddings escorted freshman class representative Angie Epperson.

Junior Rodney Barley does his best to incite school spirit in his class in order to win the spirit stick at the homecoming pep rally.

Cathy Crews, Mrs. Winifred Pollard, and Julia Childress think about float design.

Tara Payne is feeling the beat of the music at the homecoming dance.

A FIRST

Like the classes before them, the juniors anticipated the arrival of their class rings. But this year there was a special bonus. Instead of the usual assembly, the members of the Class of '89 was treated to a dance to receive their rings—the first in the school's history.

To insure success, class officers and sponsors logged many hours making plans. A decorations' committee spent days in preparation. Members of the class made pre-dance posters, sold tickets, and worked extra hard on flowers for table arrangements. Finally, they spent a day transforming the middle school gym into a fabulous ballroom.

Excitement rose as the night finally rolled around and juniors waited to glimpse their new rings. When the long awaited moment arrived, class members and their dates walked down the long aisle "carpeted" with white paper to receive their rings from Mr. Doug Stinespring and Mrs. Dianne Cornelison.

Now, with the eighty eight turns for good luck and a eighty ninth to lock in success, the Class of '89 is on its way—rings and all!

Kim Elder and her date, Tony Puckett, take a close look at Kim's new class ring.

Even our rival schools are friends at times! Beth Monroe and Allen Morris her date from Rustburg, share a special moment.

BEGINNING A TRADITION

Many activities took place during the dance. Junior William Denton and date Carey Monroe share a secret while Jennifer Monroe watches the dance floor.

A thoughtful Elton Roach has just presented his date Sherri Maddox with her class ring during the presentation ceremonies.

Just a dream? Open your eyes Scott, IT'S REAL! Junior Scott Deaner is enjoying the music and the company of his date, Sherri Davis.

Prom And Graduation Times to Remember

There are special events in our lives that may only come once, but will never be forgotten. These special times give us everlasting memories, but they are events that one will never be able to relive with the same joys and friends.

One of these special occasions is the prom. A particular night filled with glamour and dancing with that someone special. Another special time is graduation. A happy yet sad event is every seniors life when he's faced with leaving behind old friends and a new life ahead.

Ann Douglas looks for other anticipation in the senior class as members wait to receive their diplomas.

Tammy Jones and Roy Sage sit down and cuddle close while waiting for another slow dance.

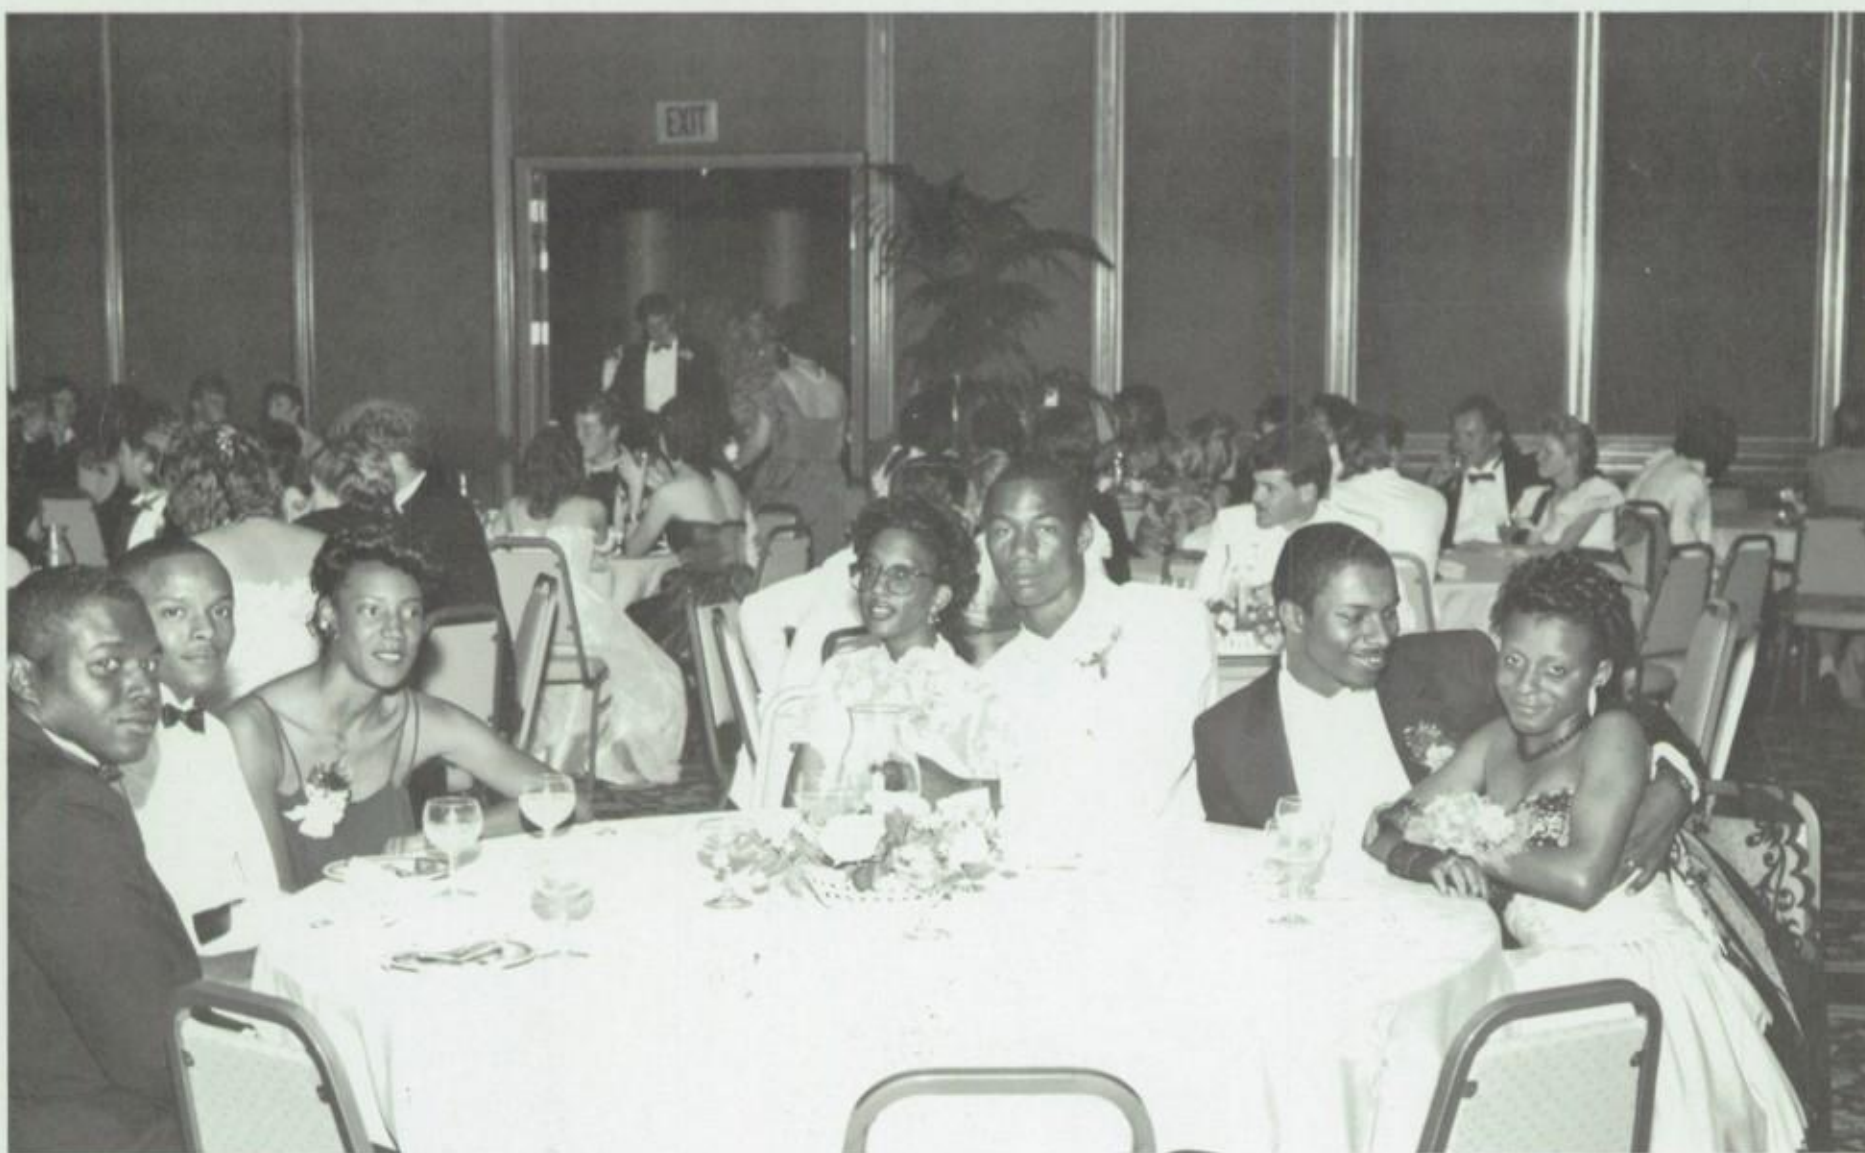

I made it! I made it! Beverly Nash expressed her excitement.

Valedictorian, Michelle Kindley looks to Mr. Kenneth Booth for some last minute advice.

Graduation is taken seriously by Salutatorian Darryl Whitesell.

The 1986-87 Junior/Senior Prom was definitely a Night to Remember as Cynthia Poe, Billy Skates, Maurice Skates, Cynthia Jackson, Yarnetta Coles, George Peerman, and Reggie Johnson take a break from the action.

It Goes Hand in Hand

Does one learn and belong or belong to learn? Perhaps learning and belonging can not be separated. Through belonging, one learns life — how to cooperate, to get along, and to adjust. By doing so, one prepares for the future while enjoying the present.

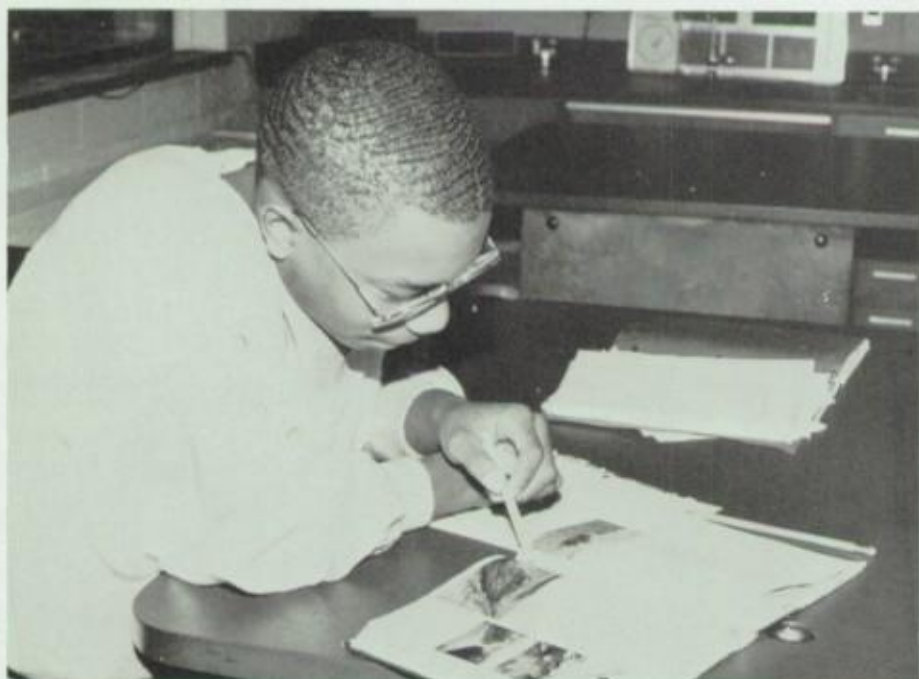

Through learning, one learns the necessary skills to ensure success in the future. One acquires knowledge both on the general level and the specific level from classes. This helps to secure a place in the job market and make productive members of the community. The true measure of what one has learned come in how this knowledge is applied.

It becomes obvious that learning and belonging can not be ranked. They share an important task of creating one's very person.

Naomi Anctil and Michael Saunders work diligently on spirit posters for the upcoming Gretna football game.

Naruna Gothic? Well, actually it's Judy St. John and Sheree Johnson returning from work on the science club garden project.

Lee Armistead is busy determining the causes of erosion for his earth science class.

This assignment for Mrs. Emily Wallace's Advanced English 12 class will keep seniors busy into the night.

The Academic Side of Life

When it gets right down to the basic facts, the academic side of life is the side that must take priority. This is not to say that this academic part always takes place in the classroom or that it is necessarily concerned with lecture and notetaking. One learns from and by many varied experiences. "Hands on" learning activities such as sewing, cooking and science labs enable students to see immediate results whereas lectures and note taking allow students opportunities to master skills necessary for long term learning.

Watch your fingers Carolyn! Carolyn Mann is busy making her garment in home economics class.

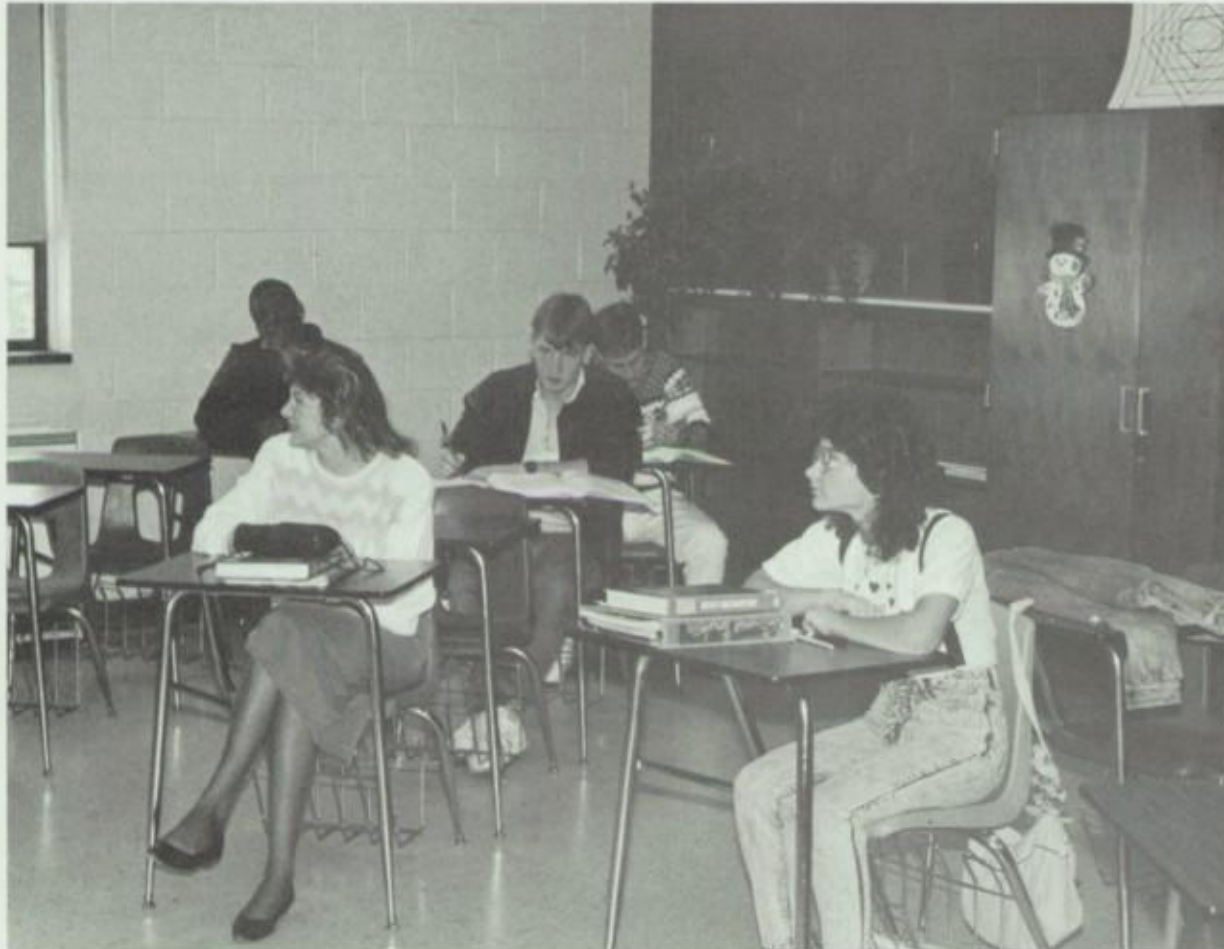

Technology prevails. Teresa Roark has completed an assignment in computer class.

"Ooh! What IS that Dang Thing?" Julia Childress is a bit wary of whatever she has encountered.

Aaron Conover uses some time after school to get help from Miss Amelia Talley.

All packed and ready to go. Students in Mrs. Bonnie Ramsey's geometry class anxiously await the bell.

Friends catch up on news near the end of math class in Miss Amelia Talley's room.

It's Not Always Easy

Social obligations, that BIG test, homework, reports, jobs, etc., etc., etc.

Teens are faced with many decisions each day. They are hounded by the contradiction of wanting to do well, yet wanting to have fun. It is difficult to balance all the activities available as one strives to do his best. Even students who seem to take it all in stride and be successful are faced with stress and indecision. Just ask them — IT'S NOT ALWAYS EASY!

Leif Erexson demonstrates what can happen to a student!

Sarah Sexton shows that it's not always easy to learn something new.

Picture by Tom Graves

One way to make it easier is to use time wisely and study like Wesley Dickerson and Bernard Littles.

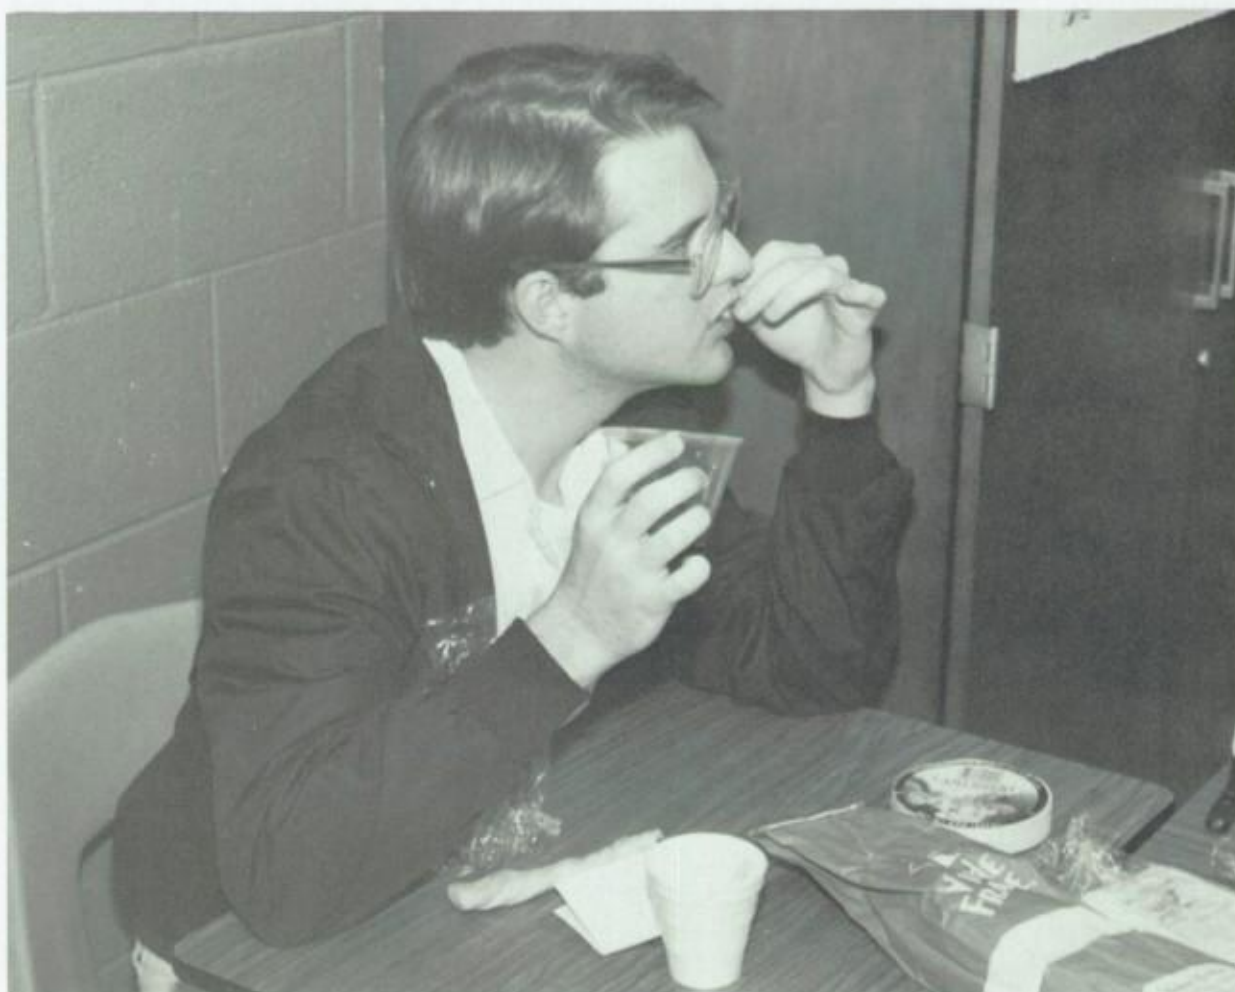

And when it gets too rough — Just take a nap like Tracey Clark.

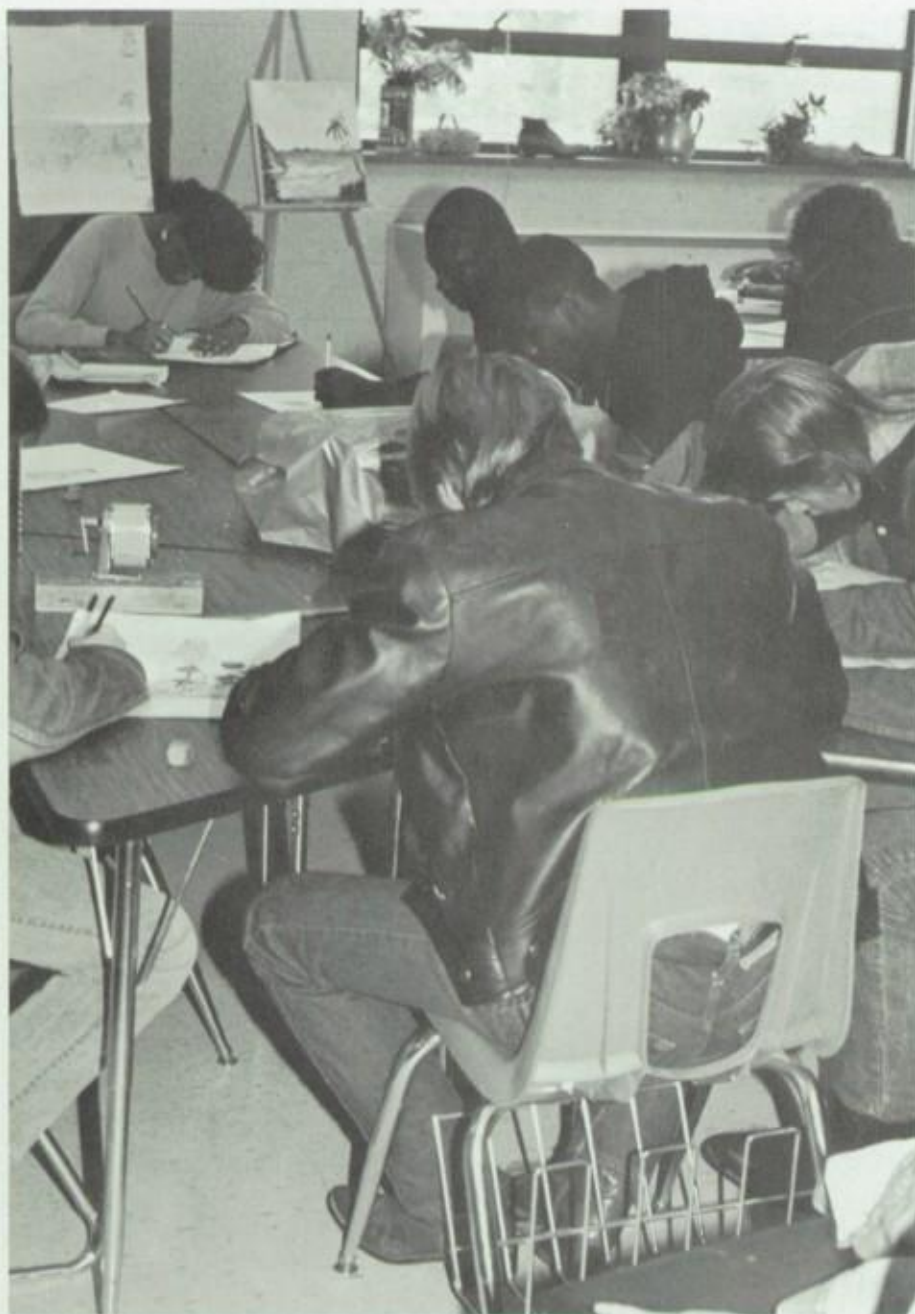

One nice extension of skills learned in class is our pep band. Here they provide "rally" music for the homecoming pep rally.

French students learned not only the spoken language, but, also about French foods and customs. Here John Van Haelewyn savors a morsel of cheese.

Art class offers a chance to show individual interests and abilities.

Dare to Excel

Once a week, during lunch, the academic team gathers to prepare for a "battle of the brains." They study subjects ranging from cartoons to mythology in preparation for the competition held in the spring of the year.

In her 2nd year as the team's coach, Mrs. Desi Justis feels that the group is multi-dimensional with a broad range of interest and abilities. She feels that they are not only learning about their own capabilities and those of team members; but, also developing a bond that will serve them as a team.

Band director, Miss Brenda Conner, occasionally joins in to provide more sound.

Kevin Carr shows how he to uses his time wisely during geometry class.

What It Takes

The staff of THE GENERAL wanted to make the '88 book special and took steps to see that it was. This was accomplished by hard work, dedication, and some disappointments.

The members quickly learned that yearbooks are expensive and the implementation of many neat ideas is often impossible due to a lack of funds.

To be a staff member takes more than desire, it takes a willingness to work hard and show responsibility. No matter how far ahead we were, it always seemed that deadlines arrived before we were fully ready. This meant additional pressures and long hours after school. Through it all, we learned to laugh while we cried, to start all over, and finally to complete the task at hand.

The staff worked during the summer to ensure a good book. Here they are shown beginning the ad sales.

Mrs. Karen Harden from Luray, Va. shows members of THE GENERAL staff how to use "cheap tricks."

Beth Monroe hurries to her next class during the VHSL Publications Workshop held in Charlottesville on Oct. 17th. and 18th.

Tracie Garrett, Wendall Krantz and Shannon Hannah work on a layout due yesterday!

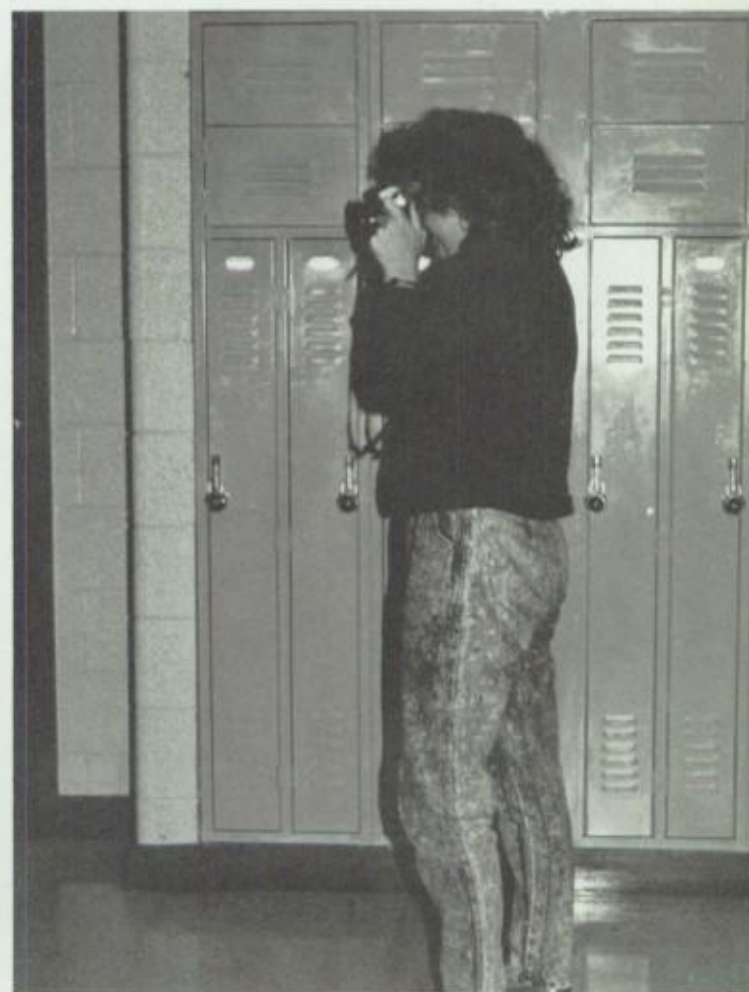

Staff member Michael Saunders records the information about our advertisers.

When the cat's away the mice will play! The journalism staff has a little fun as a group when Mrs. Hunt is absent. 1st. row — Cynthia Jackson, Michael Saunders, Wanda Martin. 2nd. row — Beth Monroe, Shane Lynch, Teresa Roark, Gina Clark. 3rd. row — Judy St. John, Sheree Johnson, Tracie Garrett. 4th. row — Matt Tibbs, Wendall Krantz, and Shannon Hannah.

Judy St. John spent many hours taking pictures for this edition of THE GENERAL.

Sheree Johnson made sure that correct records were kept of all money taken in and spent.

WRITE, ERASE, AND WRITE OVER. Cynthia Jackson works diligently on her layout pages.

FBLA. Mrs. Sylvia Riddle, Michael Saunders, Sherry Tucker, Cathy Crews, Sandra Martin, Tracey Clark. 2nd. row — Beth Monroe, Tammy

Faron Scott, Pam Johnson, Mary Lindsay, Rhonda Tanner, Amy Walthall, Teresa Roark, Paula Hamlette, Glenda Gillespie.

FHA. Wanda Hubbard, Angie Callaham, Cynthia Jackson, Sherrill Bradley, Nichole Waller, Wendy Roberts, Yarnetta Coles, Paula Hamlette, Sheri Denton. 2nd. row — Kay Bradley, Robin Jones, Yogi Burns, Julia Dunkley, Kendra Burns, Jennifer Broggin, Tangie Edwards, Michelle Taylor, Sharnette Monroe.

It Means Involvement

Club work is a synonym of involvement. The success of any club can be measured only through the involvement of its individual members as they work toward a common goal. Through club activity, one learns to enjoy his fellow classmates and feels pride in achievement. Whether it be preparing for a debate or learning material for an academic meet, it is individual effort targeted for group success. If a student wants to grow as an individual, then his goal can be obtained through involvement.

A willingness to work was evident in the many posters prepared by pep club members.

FFA. Mr. J.D. Puckett, W.B. Bass, Faron Scott, Dwayne Dickerson, Hugh Williams, William Denton, Kevin Anderson, Todd Jennings. 2nd. row — Andy Disher, Robert Roakes, Todd Roakes, Chris Godsey, Shane Dickerson, Lee Mason, Kevin Williams, Mike Roach, Mike Gregory. 3rd. row — Mike Hill, Troy Heddings, Charles Jordan, C.H. Jones, Barry Davis, Greg Wilson, Chris Holt, Glenn Clay, Wesley Dickerson. 4th. row — Dwayne

WORK and PLAY

Clubs provide activities to reinforce classwork and allow for interaction with classmates. They are not all play however. Members participate in money making and community service projects. These range from grade-a-thons to beautification projects. Just think how the rock garden got landscaped — the science club. The FFA provided us with delicious Christmas fruit and of course the Beta, FBLA, and SCA made sure that we had our candy!

The FFA fruit sale was a money making project that helped both the school and the club. Members were very active in taking orders and making deliveries once the fruit arrived.

People

John Gilbert and Angie Guthrie visit their lockers between classes to get necessary materials.

Unique = Special

Unique. That's the word that describes our school. It is special because of the unique people that make it more than a building. Our small population may seem a disadvantage to some, but we don't see it quite that way. We like knowing everyone and being comfortable.

Because of our size, we have more student involvement and closeness. Everyone pulls together to achieve the goals that will pull us all up! School is not all work. We share a lot of happy times throughout the school year. It takes all types of people to make our school special. When we look at our student body and all the activities we have, we can only say that "It's Special!"

Friends Cynthia Jackson and Colby Taylor look on as the crowd "warms up" and prepares to participate at the Homecoming Dance.

Where's my Excedrin? Miss Brenda Conner seems to be suffering from a headache. Perhaps she should move further from the drums!

Echoes of "When" and Now

Among the faculty there is a variety of both the experienced as well as the novice. When interviewing these teachers, a wide range of opinions, ideas and goals was found. It's been said that experience is the best teacher. This can be seen in the talent of Mr. George Goodman, who now teaches three subjects. Coming to William Campbell in 1951, with 3½ years of prior experience, Mr. Goodman's comments are very enlightening.

In your teacher experience, what major changes have you seen?

"The decrease of the student body, the advent of the middle school, the move to the new building, and various curriculum changes."

Has the effort you've put forth been worth it?

"Generally, yes, I believe we've made an important contribution to the job skills and academic preparation of our students."

Do you have any words of wisdom for our new teachers?

"Determine educational objectives at the start of the year and steer a steady course. Be firm, fair, and understanding. In terms of discipline, it's easier to lighten up than to tighten up."

New to the field of teaching are Mrs. Desi Justis, Mr. Alaric Gust, and Mr. Doug Smith.

What inspired you to become a teacher?

Mr. Doug Smith: "I just love working with kids."

Mrs. Desi Justis: "Not the money," she replied with a laugh.

Mr. Alaric Gust: Showing the humorous side to his personality stated that he wanted "to brainwash the youth of America."

On a serious note, Mrs. Justis says that her admiration for her college professors led her to an educational profession. For Mr. Gust, teaching was a field in which he could express his appreciation for history.

What was your early ambition?

D.J.: "A flight attendant or a pharmacist."

A.G.: "A general"

D.S.: "An FBI agent or a football player"

What was your first impression of William Campbell?

D.J.: "I was impressed with the overall politeness of the students. I also liked the small size of the school because I know most of the students well."

A.G.: "The friendliness of the faculty and administration"

D.S.: "Why is everybody staring at me?"

Mr. Rick Purcell shows what a long day at school can do to teachers.

Yes . . . the Staff is Human human — n. — having or showing the characteristics of people

When you think of your teachers, what are your thoughts? Homework, lectures, note taking and discipline probably come to mind. But, have you ever looked beyond the actual school hours to see the other side? Yes, teachers buy groceries and eat, mow the lawn, have fun and endure disappointments JUST LIKE US!

Many teachers are also willing to give of themselves and their time after school hours to ensure that the students have experiences necessary to be well rounded individuals.

Yes, our staff is human — they care, have feelings and many will reach out a hand of friendship if given a chance.

Expectations

Incoming freshmen often find high school very different from their expectations. Dana Scott feels it is not very different at all since it is structured like the middle school. Sheila Howell feels that classes are harder and the teachers expect more of you while Angie Authrie enjoys the freedoms and more responsibility. Pam Williams thinks that last year the class was at the top and the teachers felt you were great while this year you are starting all over!

SOPHOMORES

GREAT HAPPENINGS!

Being a sophomore can be an interesting and trying time for the adolescent. One of the most interesting times is reaching the age to get a learner's permit. Then one can look forward to getting the "real thing." This is also an exciting time when you are more involved in sports and academic activities and are just awaiting the date to order your class ring.

During this year one realizes that more time must be spent on studies and preparations for the future. Even with the extra work, this is a special time which will be remembered fondly.

Excuses! Excuses!

What's your best excuse for coming in late? Check out these responses!

Kendra Burns — "My best excuse is that the car broke down!"

Wendy Stevens — "I tell my parents that we took a wrong turn and got lost."

Leigh DeJarnette — "There was an accident and we got caught in the traffic."

Tina Hamlett — "We saw some old friends and lost track of time."

Carrington Connelly — "We went to the 9 o'clock movie and then went to get something to eat."

JUNIORS

And just how did you come to be at W.C.? Julia Childress interviewed Mr. Douglas Stinespring during the Back to School assembly.

Matt Tibbs and Tracey Clark take a few moments to relieve the tension during exams.

Experiences

When the junior year rolls around, most juniors are getting their licenses and cars for the first time. This is one of the greatest experiences during high school and most savor the moment by cruising. Whether it be Wards Road or around the school, students always find a way of being cool. Blasting radios and revving engines are ways to catch someone's attention. Power vehicles ranging from Novas and Mustangs to pick up trucks are bragged about to classmates. Four wheelers are giants in the crowd. Sporty and sleek sports cars made everyone's turn their heads. Economy cars saved the students a little money for clothes and the other things they wanted.

It's Gold!

Gold has power. It is a symbol of wealth and success. To a junior, a class ring is a dream, a reward for years of climbing the scholastic ladder toward becoming a mature, responsible person ready to take on the senior year and whatever lies ahead. What's the symbol of junior success? It's a junior's dream, a gold class ring. And there's nothing like the feeling of gold!

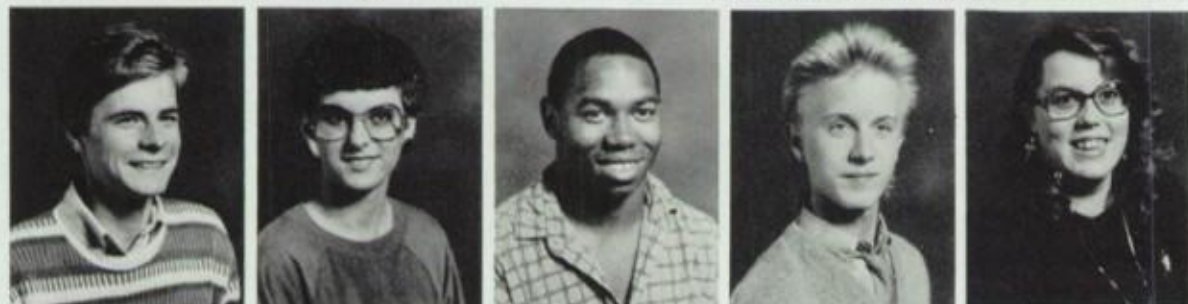

Hands of juniors display new rings. Some gold, some silver, they all represent status and the graduation year not far away.

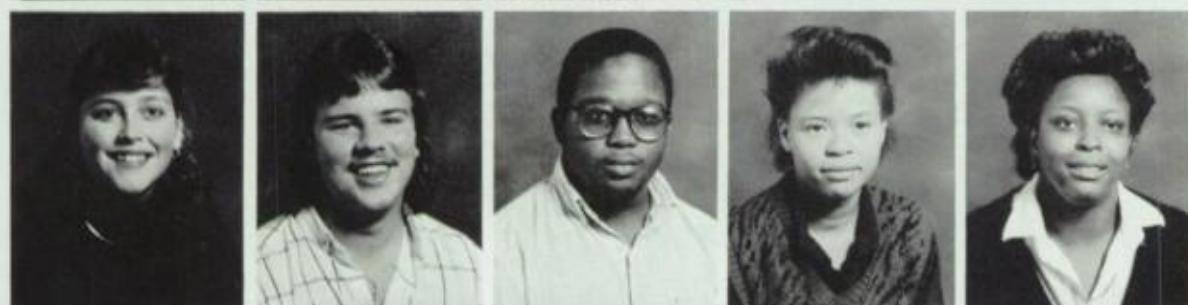

Mr. Karl Koenig D.J.'ed the ring dance. Mike Renee and William Eades assisted him. The three also made their singing debut with their special rendition of "Barbara Ann."

A Special Ending – A New Beginning

From the beginning of the freshman year, a student strives for the ultimate goal — seniority. In this final phase of high school, there is not only a closing of the past, but also an opening to the future. Reaching the final year is a joyful moment filled with great expectations. During the year seniors are forced to make certain decisions that will shape their futures. Along with these new decisions, through an active participation in various class activities, each member of the class becomes involved in making a special ending. Upon graduation, all the struggles, joys, hardships and exhilarations of the past four years will become treasured memories.

Moments shared by friends will be among memories that will never fade. Dana Yuille and Nichole Waller take time to vote on the class motto.

Individually . . .

A fingerprint, a social security number, the sound of one's voice — each represents a trait totally unique to an individual. Within the senior class, there are over seventy individuals, each with his own distinct personality, appearance, and abilities.

During the last year of high school, every senior must decide for himself what the course of his future will be. If planning to enter college a student must decide which school he is interested in attending and complete the necessary admission forms. Likewise, if directly entering the work field, one must look into prospective places of employment.

In the midst of such decision, however, every senior must find a way in which to escape the pressures of life. Chris Meyer, a recent addition to the graduating class, uses his talent in track as an outlet for his frustrations. Though sometimes tough, Chris says, the good feeling he gets from running and the satisfaction he gets from reaching a goal make it all worthwhile. And worthwhile it is. Chris, a one-man cross-country team, was successful enough to place 6th in the Seminole District, 12th in the region, and 41st in the state. Way to go, Chris!

Through individual and group friendships school life can be more enjoyable and often much easier to deal with as shown here by Nichole Waller, Dana Yuille, Wanda Hubbard, Angela Callahan, and Theodore Jackson.

... Yet Collectively

Would Shakespeare like this? Probably. The 5th. period English class hams it up while Mrs. Emily Wallace was conned into taking their picture.

Laughing, crying, caring, sharing, arguing, dreaming, encouraging — these are emotions shared by members of the class of '88. Seniors have strived to achieve a goal. Whether in the classroom, hallway, library, or cafeteria, members contribute to the overall spirit of the class. Giving meaning to the adage, "Together we stand, divided we fall", seniors realize that adjusting to conflicting personalities and working together is essential for success. This applies whether trying to persuade a teacher to postpone a test or when making plans for a special senior trip. Through joint efforts, results can be amazing. Yes, within the senior class, there truly is unity through diversity.

With the approach of graduation, there is the realization that the time remaining for the seniors to be together is short. Even though concentration on academics must take priority, it is a time when more thought is turned to special moments and special friends. Having experienced so much together, at times classmates are more like family. Truly the years together now seem like days, but the happiness shared, enough for a lifetime. As the senior year finally came, and now goes, members of the class agree that it's most definitely been worth the long wait for '88.

Wanda Hubbard, Angela Callaham and Nichole Waller have found a "charmer" in U.Va. basketball star John Johnson.

The school's water tower says it all. The Class of '88 is tops.

It's a start. Lots of money will be needed for a nice senior trip and this is one way to get it!

Key chains were a popular fad this year — especially ones with the graduation year attached.

Food for thought. Lunch time is a time to relax and enjoy not only the food but also friendly conversation. Here Dana Hamlette, Mandy Moseley, and Sherry Tucker relax.

For The Sake Of Participation

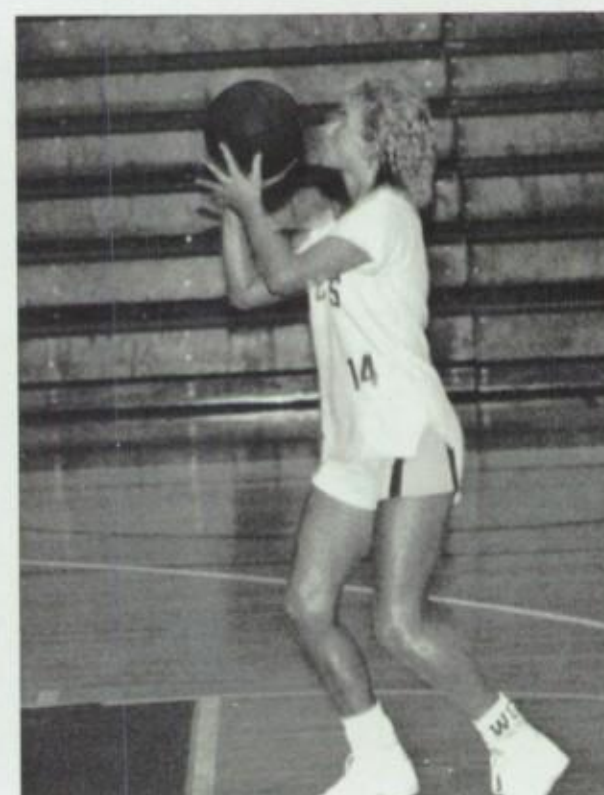

A person joins a team for many reasons. He or she may be athletically talented, may feel a need to belong, or many feel obligated to contribute.

When the truth is known, superstars do not make a team. It takes every member pulling together. This is not to say that the team will always be successful if the members pull together for that is not so. However, the benefits derived from the participation will long outlast the glories derived from winning. Through the rigors of training one learns self discipline. Through self discipline one learns about life and leaves the sport being better prepared because of the experience. Through the interaction with teammates and opponents one learns crucial social skills which can be transferred to daily life.

Dribble Toward a Goal

About the middle of August, the sounds from inside the gym indicate the approaching of the season. As temperatures soar, the spirit of the team reach an all time high. In starting the season a week before school, the team strove to do their best and to work together. Whether the games resulted in a victory or a defeat, the team always managed to keep their heads held high and continued to work harder to win the next game. Not only did the basketball team put forth an outstanding effort, but they also enjoyed the excitement of participating. By ending with a 4, 14 record, the team competed in the district tournament which completed the season.

Persistence in the face of injury and a small team kept the golf team going this year. Even though the team did not have a winning season, many matches were close. Members gained experience and will keep on "swingin'."

Winning Isn't Everything

After several years of being on top in football, the time finally came when we just didn't quite matchup. The football season began on September 4 with hope in the air and many faithful fans never gave up but it was apparent that the time had come to share the spotlight with someone else.

The guys worked hard and played all season right down to the wire but the numbers were against us. We were hurt by a lack of depth on our bench which is a common problem of a small school fielding athletic teams.

Much can be said about "why" we were not on top, but much more needs to be said about the spirit of the guys who participated. They were there, they gave it their all, they never quit. It is this drive that will help us to restructure our team and we will be back!

"The Time Had Come"

The football team wasn't very successful this year, but nevertheless, they stuck together and pulled through, not coming out on top statistically, but in spirit.

This was also Mr. Ronnie Cox's last year of leading the Generals through some tough and trying games. He along with seniors must move on. The players that remain will miss the guidance of Coach Cox, but will return next year with more spirit and ability to prove that the Generals are number one.

RAH, RAH, RAH!

Who in the school faithfully attends games, supports the teams and players, and lends encouragement? Who always has bright cheery smiles and works hard to have fun? Why, cheerleaders of course!

When a player is down or angry at himself, the words "You gave it your best!", "Hang in there!" "I'm proud of you!" means a lot. But why would a girl want to work so hard to have fun? Tracie Garrett seems to sum it up when she says "It just gives us an excuse for being so loud."

A New Beginning

This year has been an experience for the J.V. Basketball team. The players have put much time and dedication into their practices and many hours were spent on game plans. The players really wanted to learn and play as a team. The team won their first game against Liberty. It came as a real surprise, but they did it. With each game, the players showed improvement.

HOOPING IT UP

The Varsity Basketball team travelled to many places and demonstrated their abilities. This year was really tough due to the loss of some amazing athletes. Many basketball players impressed the audience and showed signs of becoming great athletes in the future. We managed to beat Nelson in an upsetting victory. Many times we came close to victory but were unable to pull it off. The team received support from the crowd who enjoyed cheering for our athletes.

Before and after each game, Miss Beth Roakes and Julia Childress set the net up and saw that it was in playing condition.

Power Ball

As winter approached, volleyball players got ready for months of grueling practice. Throughout the season, day after day, the volleyball team worked in order to improve their skills. During the tedious drills, the player's talents soon became evident whether in setting, serving, or spiking. By the end of practice each day, everyone was exhausted and anxiously awaited for Miss Roakes to say, "One more set up and we'll go." However, fifteen minutes later practice was still going strong.

In the actual games each member strove to bring their individual talents together and successfully compete as a team. Even though their attempts did not always result in a victory, the entire team succeeded in putting forth their best effort.

Carey Monroe bumped the ball while teammates, Gina Clark and Yogi Burns, stood ready to assist.

As the volleyball team rallied together, Miss Beth Roakes explained the game plan.

Libby Smith showed "perfect" form as she successfully returned the serve.

We won! Excitement was evident on the faces of the Junior Varsity team after they defeated Altavista.

Keep On Track

Yogi Burns is ready to launch the discus during the Altavista meet.

The gun goes off and almost simultaneously the trampling sound starts. Someone whips past like greased lighting. This is the sensation of the school track team in action. The shot put flies through the air to distances unknown. Athletes zoom over hurdles and tops of poles. Spectators watch in amazement as they are chilled by the cool spring air. All of these are experiences of track.

During the season the discus throwers set many records and the relay team was outstanding although we lost to Rustburg in the regional competition, several members placed in the state. Aren't we special.

Donald Jones gets ready to throw the shot—

—then he spins, releases it and sends it 58 ft. to win the state meet as he follows through.

Chris Meyer shows the determination it takes to be a distance runner.

W.B. Bass clears the pole vault as Troy Heddings and Todd Roakes check out the style.

STRETCH TRACEY! Because of the extra effort, Brookville player D. Frederick is out during the 2nd. inning of the April 29th. game.

A Learning Experience

Whack! Crack! These were sounds heard by the girls' softball team as it worked toward a 500 season. Under the guidance of first year coach Beth Roakes, the team overcame the odds with practice, hard work, and lots of spirit.

With her unique motivation technique — "a little rock throwing," Miss Roakes encouraged teamwork and led the team through the second round tournament action.

The team showed lots of spunk and had lots of fun through the season. It shook off damp spirits when it traveled to Buckingham to play a double header on the rainiest day of the year with flood warnings issued. After arriving, the Lady Generals had to take the field in the pouring rain only to have the game called in the 2nd inning AFTER everyone got soaked. As an attempt was made to leave, the bus slid into a muddy ditch and everyone had to unload and push. It wasn't all bad however, we did "dine" at Burger King — wet clothes and all!

"I've got it, I've got it!" Rochelle Crews is all set to snag a fly ball coming toward 3rd. base.

Julia Childress keeps the score while Cathy Crews looks for equipment to ready herself to catch.

The team huddles before the Rustburg game . . . GO, FIGHT, WIN!

Robbie Landsberger waits nervously for the pitcher to deliver the pitch.

Shane Dickerson has a look of amusement on his face caused by the antics of the umpire during the Jefferson Forest game.

"Is it my turn?" Warren Smith walks to the plate with the anticipation of getting a hit against Rustburg.

Another Long Season Hope Deserts Generals

The baseball team began its season with hope—lots of it, but gradually that hope turned to despair.

By the time mid-season rolled around it was evident that it was going to be a long second half.

Over the course of the season the team was out scored by its opponents. Bad luck followed the team into the field where it was plagued by errors.

Spirits were down and it seemed the guys just couldn't rally in spirit as a team.

As the end of the season approached, the guys could sigh with relief, and let history take its course. To put this all behind them was to begin the healing process. They hope to begin next year with greater expectations, as individuals working toward team goals.

In a game against Altavista, Lou DeJarnette awaits the pitch.

Willie Rouff leads off in an attempt to steal second during the Brookville game.

"Come on off, Andy!" Andy Disher is ready for his turn at bat.

A Small Package but oh How Special!

Earning a Letter —

Are band and chorus sports or classes? Actually they are both! Students who take band and chorus are awarded varsity letters the same as athletes and cheerleaders. This year, a concert band and chorus were added to the curriculum for students wanting to learn a life long skill of enjoying music. The band and chorus provided many hours of enjoyment at football games and concerts.

"The band spells it all!" The band practices their halftime performance while spelling out W.C.

A special moment is shared by Loretta Johnson and her date Marvin Tuck at the Ring Dance on November 20th.

86 Locked in Time

To Stay Forever

Memories and events of this school year are locked in time to stay forever. Some things will never happen again. Classmates will leave, some of whom one will never see again. There's always the special time, special person, unique event that will be treasured and remembered.

There are also events that take place to shape the history of our community and world. These events are recorded along with our other memories to be remembered in years to come. We will remember where we were, who we were with, and how we felt when these events occurred.

Whether the events bring about personal memories or shape our history, they are forever of a special nature and Locked in Time.

False Alarm. November 10th brought a light dusting of snow to our area but did not force schools to close early.

When English students get behind and overwhelmed, they can blame it all on Shakespeare.

Coach Karl Koenig gets his team fired up during a game with Randolph Henry on September 4th.

SCA officers Annie Froelich, Sherry Tucker, and John Van Haelewyn, with the help of legs Anna Smith, Christy Mosebrook, and Matt Tibbs, perform an aerobics routine at the SCA assembly on September 17th.

WE the PEOPLE

Our Constitution has Virginia Written

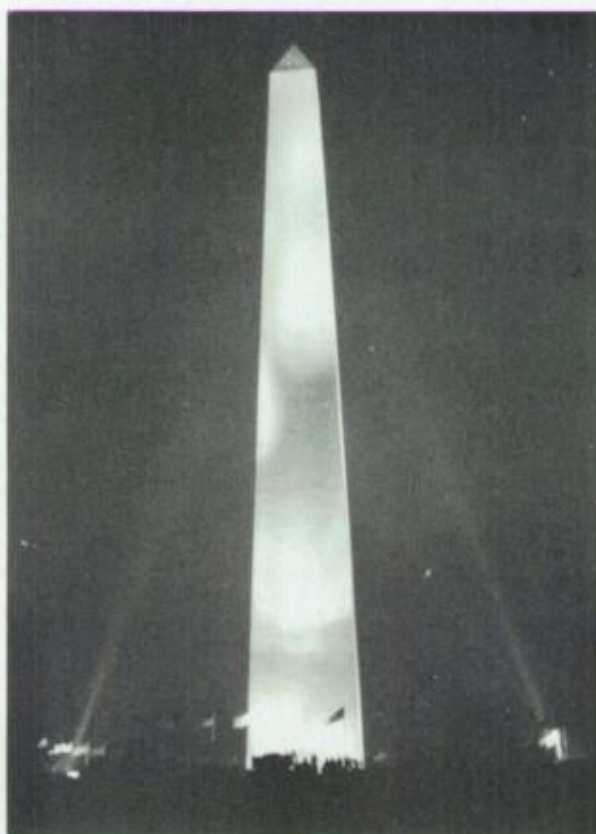

ALL over IT

This advertising slogan brought to us a number one story of the year — The Constitution of the United States of America written by Virginian James Madison celebrated its 200th birthday.

When one thinks of why our country is special, certain facts come to the front. Things such as pride in our flag, freedom of movement from state to state without passports, the beauty of our country and our forefathers such as George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, and Patrick Henry. Even our freedom of choice to learn or not to learn makes our country unique. We can truly "Be all that we can be" if we are motivated and willing to work. Though our country is not perfect, it is truly made better or worse because of We the People.

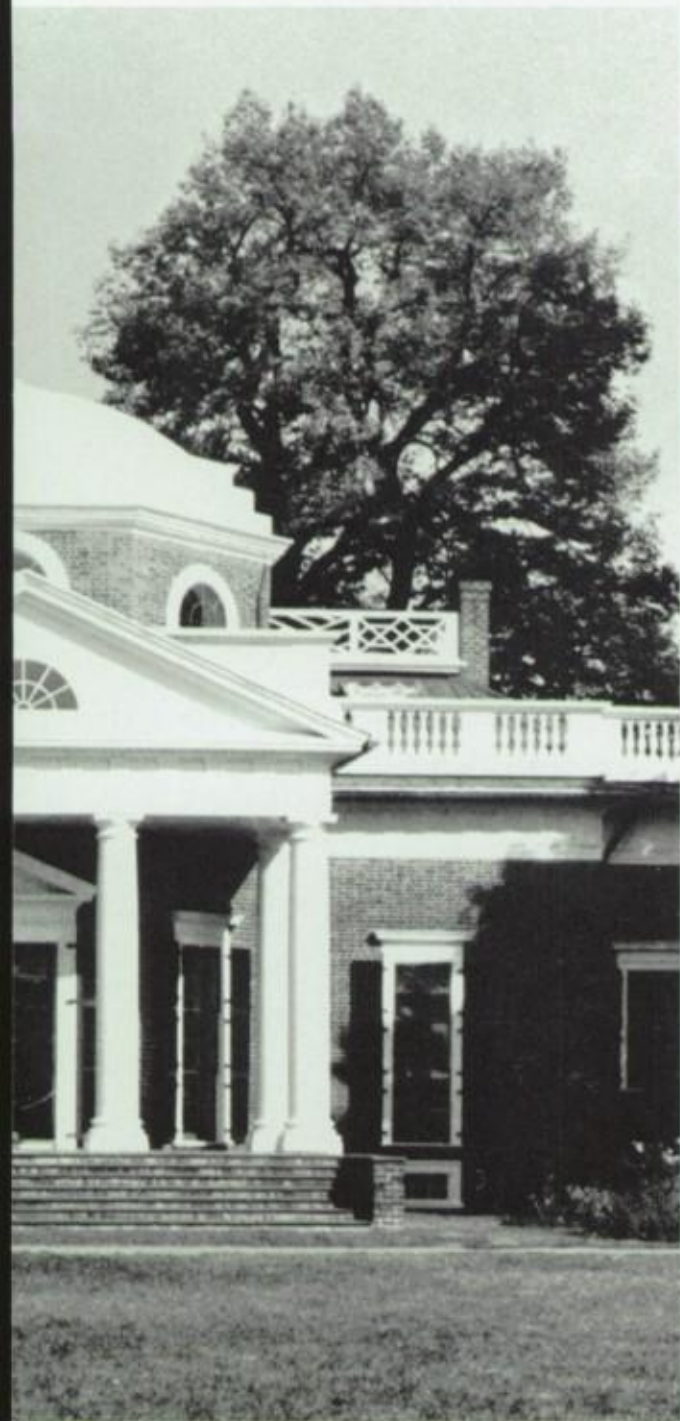

THE Old Glory that inspired Francis Scott Key to write our National Anthem.

A salute to Virginian George Washington — the Washington Monument.

Give me your tired . . . The Statue of Liberty.

"There is no limit to what a person can Learn."

Thomas Jefferson supervised the construction of the University of Virginia from his home, Monticello.

A tribute to statesman and Virginian Thomas Jefferson.

The Jefferson Memorial is located on the banks of the Potomac River in VA.

Our freedom to learn is exemplified by this elderly gentleman at the National Geographic Association in Washington D.C.

"Give me Liberty." Our very own Red Hill in nearby Charlotte County was the home of patriot Patrick Henry.

'87-'88

What Happened?

Scandals

The undergrounding of money to Iran Contras in exchange for hostages.

During July of '87, Congressional hearings were held. Lt. Col. Oliver North was held responsible for the scandal to which he said "I came here to tell you the truth, the good, the bad, and the ugly." His secretary, Fawn Hall, during her trials said, "Sometimes we have to go above the written law."

"My answer, therefore, and the simple truth is, I don't remember." said President Reagan during Iran Contra Hearings.

Crashes

West German teenager landed his small plane in Moscow's Red Square.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average dropped 508 points October 19, 1987.

This day was named Black Monday. This was worse than before the depression, over $500 billion were lost!!

Arrivals

Pope John Paul II visited the United States.

Soviet Leader Mikhail Gorbachev and his wife visited U.S. for summit and signing of INF treaty.

As the summer came to an end, so did the Brookneal Leggett department store. People were very upset about the closing. Some even picketed to prevent Leggett from closing its doors.

Bidders at Goldleaf Warehouse examined the last of the tobacco to be sold in that facility.

Highwater

A hurricane struck shores of California causing millions of dollars in damage on Malibu beach. Just before Christmas, W. Memphis, Arkansas, was struck by a tornado destroying much of the community. A couple weeks later high flood waters washed out all of what was rebuilt after the tornado disaster. Schools in Campbell County missed the intended first day of school because of flooding.

Competition

The NFL struck for free agency. The first part of the season was played by substitute players. Eventually the Washington Redskins defeated the Denver Broncos in Superbowl XXII, 45-10. The '88 Winter Olympics were held in Calgary, Canada.

Close-Outs

The Leggett department store in Brookneal closed after many years of service. The Goldleaf Tobacco Warehouse closed after years of selling tobacco grown by local farmers.

During Labor Day weekend, rain raised the water level in rivers to flood many roads and fields. Schools and businesses closed as a result.

ALL IN STYLE

Everyone tries to keep up with the latest fashions. Fashions such as acid washed clothes, fringed boots and jackets, British Knights, Swatch items, bleached and dyed hair, peach colored clothing, and mini skirts. Students can be found wearing anything from leather and lace to torn jeans and T-shirts. Fashions come from local malls and big cities.

In addition to fashions, students keep up with fads. Some of the latest fads are cross necklaces, tie-dyed shirts, and spuds. The most popular hairstyles of today are the BonJovi and the square cuts. Music trends range from the heavy metal bands to the rappin' Eric B, and L.L. Cool J.

Whatever the trend, the Generals will be in style.

Sporting the suede fringe jacket is Freshman, Eddie Hailey.

Mike Saunders shows his acid washed jeans and tie-dyed shirt.

Mike Saunders and Sherry Tucker converse while Leigh DeJarnette and Tracey Foster show off the latest style in boots and sweater skirts.

Naomi Anctil shyly shows her jean tassel jacket with her acid washed mini skirt.

Warren Smith, Scott Deaner, Greg Wilson, and Jeff Parsons show their ruff style leather and jean jackets.

Bon Jovi?? No, it's Tracey Foster with her BonJovi cut. William Denton models his knitted sweater for his friend Lucy.

Advertisements

Most people in the community, including students, don't realize the effort and expense of producing a yearbook. The major task is selling ads. Without the generous support of the businesses in our area, it would not be possible to have a yearbook at our school.

We are lucky to have SPECIAL people and businesses who care about the viability of our school. In return, it is hoped that everyone looking through our book will patronize the businesses that support our venture and give them a BIG thank you.

Colophon

Volume 37 of THE GENERAL was printed by Delmar Printing Company of Charlotte, North Carolina. There was a press run of 200 copies.

Pages were of 80 pound enamel in a 9x12 size. The cover was silver gray Sturdite #78289, Smythe sewn, with a foil stamped custom designed swatch of Colonial Blue D15.

Special spot color of Colonial Blue D15 was used on 33 pages. Gray screening was used on 27 pages. Division pages carried out the cover design, type, and colors.

Type selection for the book was Caledonia Bold Italic, size

42 point for headlines, Caledonia Bold #58 size 12¼ for copy, Caledonia Bold #58 size 10/12 for captions, kickers and page numbers, and custom type size 72 pt. for division headlines.

Ninety percent of candid photography was done by the year-book staff. Student, faculty, and group shots were taken by Mr. Bob Tavenner. Printing was done by Delmar. Additional photo assistance was provided by Mr. Tim Connelly and Mr. Tom Graves.

Very special thanks are extended to Mr. Bob Tavenner, Mrs. Lisa Dean, and Ms. Darlene Yow for all of their help and unending patience.

A Special Ending

Some of the seniors got together to show that they're a part of the class of '88."

A lot of hard work and dedication has gone into the yearbook. Meeting deadlines is just one major hassle faced by all yearbook staff members. Putting the yearbook together is more than just taking a class, it's a special process of capturing memories that will last a lifetime.

Thanks to all the staff members for working together to get the job done. An extra special thanks to our Advisor, Mrs. Ann Hunt, for making it ALL possible and putting so much of herself into it. We'll miss you. And to the entire student body, thank you for being a part of what makes it so special.

I'm so excited! Mrs. Desi Justis shows her enthusiasm as she prepares to teach her next class.

Tommy Hall and Kevin Scott amuse each other with their jokes before class begins.

Shannon Hannah, Cherie Mason, Tracie Garrett, and Wendall Krantz take the last few minutes of class to proof-read over pages.

John Joseph Van Haelewyn, Aaron Conover, Chris Meyer, and Julia Childress express their excitement over the school lunch.

She hates good-byes. Mrs. Ann Hunt receives a hug from Christy Mosebrook after being presented a going away gift from the senior class.

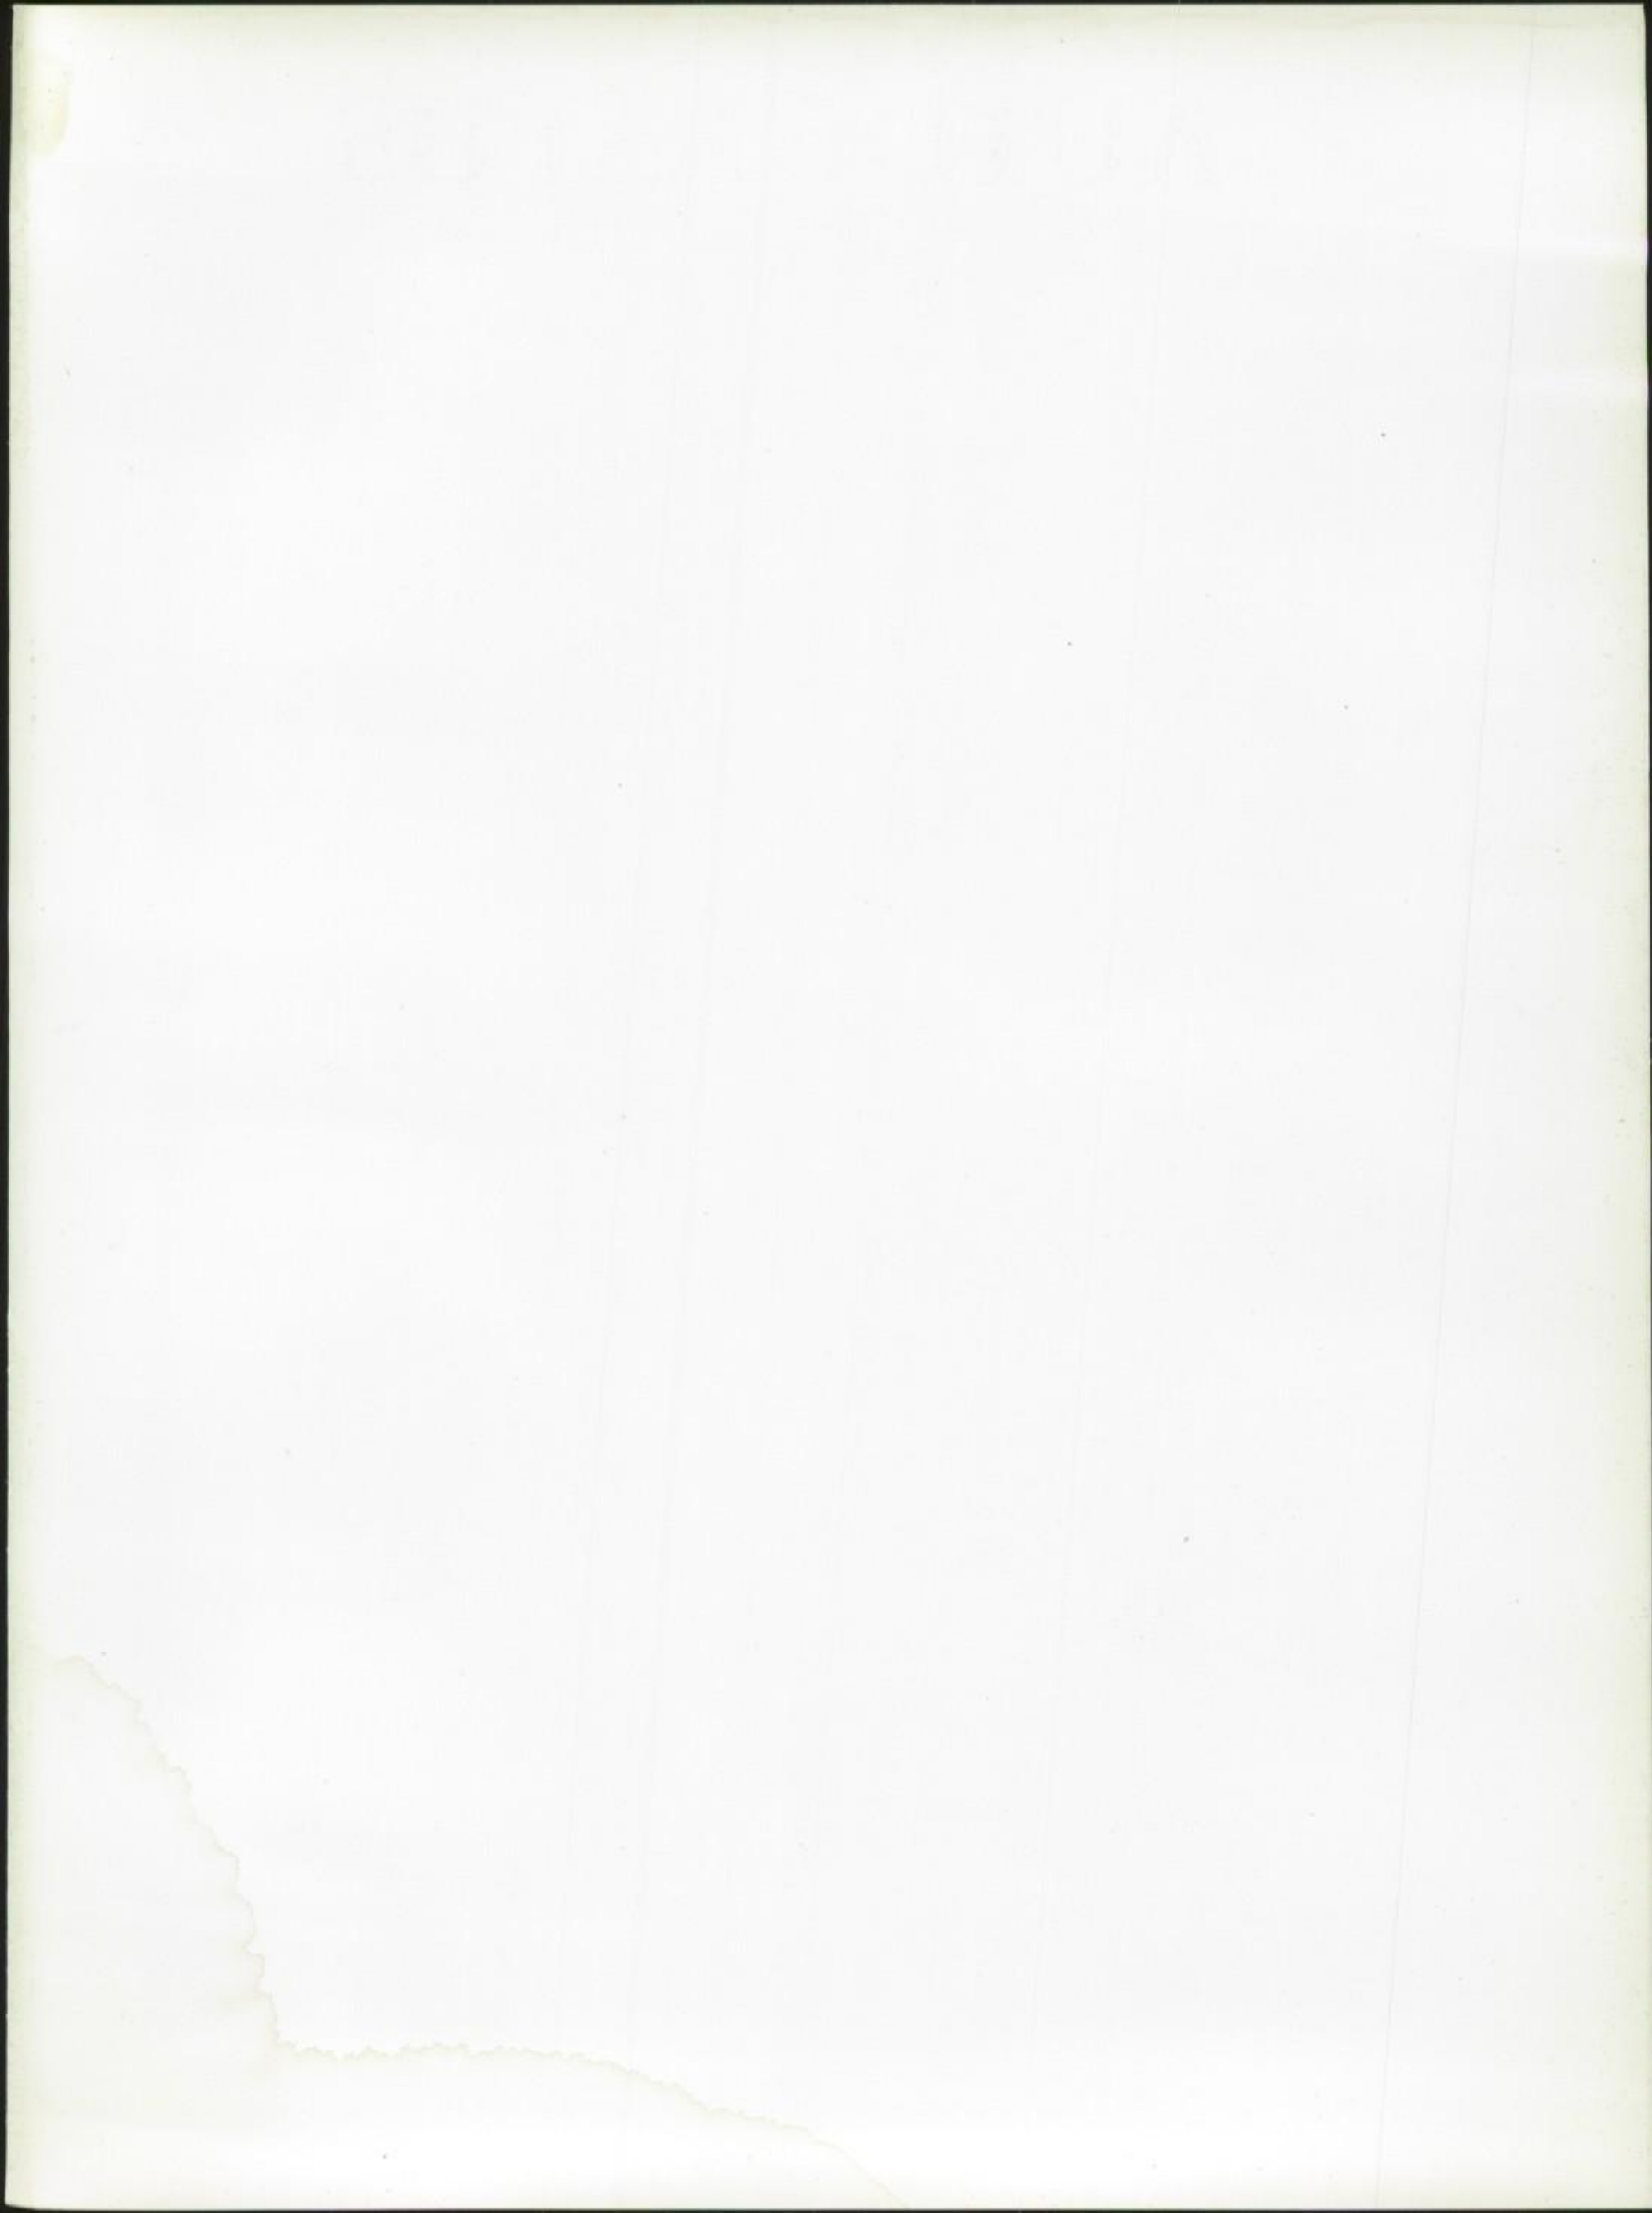

Matt Tibbs relaxes as his "showboys" entertain the student body with their moves.

Principal, Douglas Stinespring, makes sure the concession stands are stocked for the Homecoming game.
